Context:

A personal response solidifies the research, skills and techniques you have learnt. You are assessed in this way at GCSE.

AO4	Present a personal and meaningful response that realises intentions and demonstrates understanding of visual language	Present a personal, informed and meaningful response demonstrating analytical and critical understanding, realising intentions and, where appropriate, making connections between visual, written, oral or other elements

Development is about selecting ideas, visual elements, compositions and techniques from this initial work and using them in new ways.

It is important that you don't become too attached to your first idea.

Don't worry if the work you produce seems unresolved and isn't perfect. It is an important part of the creative process to try out new things and to make creative decisions based on what works and what doesn't.

And don't worry if you try something that doesn't work. Showing creativity is more important at this stage. Remember you can refine your work and produce a more finished result by spending more time on your work.
